

Let's Take Colour Pictures Outdoors

A KODAK PUBLICATION

THIRD EDITION : FIRST PRINTING

Price in Great Britain 6/6

Published by Kodak Limited London

Printed in Great Britain by W. S. Cowell Ltd, at the Butter Market, Ipswich

Why is a picture good?	2
The reasons for the gasps of admiration from an audience.
Problems of lighting	4
Lighting conditions from bright sun to pouring rain or worse. How to cope, with and without flash.
Pictures after dark	16
Why you should keep your camera out of bed o' nights.
Movement and action	20
High-speed shooting, and the usefulness of long-focus lenses.
Close-up pictures	23
How to get in real close for pictures of things rather than people.
Some suggestions for subjects	30
New ideas for pictures on the sea shore or on a cruise. Pictures from the air—and under the sea. Also such things as rainbows, sunsets, moonlight, night-life and lightning.
Titles	47
Some hints on titles and captions for your slide shows or picture album.
Gadgetry	48
Some useful accessories, and how to get the best from them.
Hints for good pictures	53
Some bright tips on how to put the snap in snapshot.
Variety in your pictures	58
A pictorial "see-what-we-mean?"
Depth of field	59
What it is, and how to use it.
Exposure tables	60
For daylight, supplementary fill-in flash, and flash as sole light-source.
Prints from your slides	64
How to judge whether your slides will make good colour prints.	