

Pictures by flash

Kodak

KODAK, COBURG

Successful picture-taking is very much a matter of making the most of every opportunity. It's quite easy to do this if you've got your own portable light-source, and are not dependent on the whims of the sun. With flash you can take pictures any time you like; indoors of your family and friends and on special occasions like weddings and parties, as well as outdoors when there's not enough daylight to make good pictures.

This book clearly explains the whys and wherefores of simple flash, as well as the use of portable units and electronic flash. It relates different flash techniques to actual picture-taking situations. It ends with a chapter on "Flash Facts" which will be of interest to those owning or who are about to purchase some flash gear.

contents

page

Getting Started

- 2-3 with a simple camera
- 4-5 with an adjustable camera

Flash Techniques

- 6-8 flash-on-camera
- 9-11 flash-off-camera
- 12-13 bounced flash
- 13-14 paraflash
 - 15 ring flash
- 16-18 multiple flash
 - 21 flash on dull days
 - 23 flash at night
 - 23 open flash
- 24-26 balancing flash with daylight

Picture-Making with Flash

- 26-33 pictures of people
- 35-36 pictures of pets
- 37-38 close-ups
 - 39 action pictures
- 40 using your flash out and about

page

Flash Facts

- 41 which film for flash?
- 42 checking your guide number
- 43 choosing a new flash unit
- 43 flash synchronization
- 44 flash with fast shutter speeds
- 45 flash with focal-plane shutters
- 45-47 how things work
 - 48 care of flash batteries
 - 48 good flash habits