PRODUCT CATALOGUE

For education, industry and government.

How to use this catalogue

Objectives of this catalogue

This catalogue provides information on a range of Kodak products and services for use by schools, other training and education establishments, and government.

What this catalogue includes

Kodak products are grouped into broad categories such as film, paper, chemicals, equipment and accessories, with descriptions of each major product – our unique 7 digit Catalogue Number (CAT. No.) is supplied in many cases to assist you with future inquiries or orders.

There is also a section providing information on Kodak services and publications (pages 44-47).

Information on how and where to buy Kodak products and services, and how and where to contact Kodak for further information (page 5) is provided together with our current business terms (page 48).

This catalogue has a 'Table of Contents' (page 4) for quick identification of specific product groups.

For information on products not included in this catalogue, or for further information, please contact your nearest Kodak office (see page 5), as most products are explained in easy-to-read data sheets or free leaflets.

How to buy Kodak products and services

Kodak products and services are available either through photographic dealers and distributors around Australia or direct from Kodak for account customers.

Page 5 lists the addresses and telephone numbers of Kodak offices which should be contacted for price and supply enquiries.

How to contact Kodak for information

In addition to the Kodak offices around Australia (listed on page 5) Kodak also provides a centralized photo information service from our Head Office in Coburg, Victoria.

Interstate customer access to this information service is via an "008" toll-free phone service (during normal working hours). You pay only a local call cost and Kodak pays the long distance charge.

For all kinds of photographic information ring:

Melbourne customers: 353 2801

All other customers: 008 33 9801 (toll free)

Pre-addressed inquiry cards are also included at the rear of this catalogue for your use.
